SAYS FIRST WIFE KNEW OF PLANS

Chapman, Alleged Polygamist, in Court.

MAY ENTER A PLEA TODAY

BETTER HALF NO. 1 WOULD CONSOLE SUCCESSOR.

If the assertions of James A. Chapman, the young man arrested Wednesday for polygamy, be true, his first wife, Mrs. Alice Chapman, was aware some time previous to his second matrimonial voyage of his intentions, but made no attempt to dissuade him, Chapman says. He claims that he was the victim of a divorce, but that she refused, saying, he claims, that "it would be all right with her." Thereupon he determined to go ahead with his plans. Chapman was arraigned in Judge Diehl's court yesterday morning, but owing to the absence of his attorney, a continuance was granted until this morning. It is expected that he will be prepared to plead at 10 a. m. today. The accused man's bond was fixed at $50, which he has thus far been unable to obtain.

It was developed since Chapman's arrest that better half No. 1 had been married to the defendant, and is the mother of a 1-year-old boy. Of this fact, Chapman claims to have been ignorant when he made his first wife, Mrs. Chapman, the first, who is several years the senior of the accused, deceased, however, the latter had often seen her little son about the house before they met, but he did not know the circumstances of his being.

A Wife-to-Wife Talk.

Despite the fierce exchange of accusations and denials, the legal Mrs. Chapman appears to have sympathy for the new spouse. She paid a visit to the second Mrs. Chapman's hearth and firestone yesterday morning in an endeavor to ascertain her second wife's choice. The latter, however, has taken up her residence temporarily with her aunt, and the home is at present unoccupied. The first wife is inclined to question Chapman's sanity.

She cites the fact that within a year of obtaining a license to wed, he swore to her, using his own name, and that he had a wife to reside within a block of the Walker home. The first wife also represented that she had relatives and friends. But she maintains that she had no knowledge of the fact that Chapman was married to a woman who was living with him. She claims that she was a victim of a divorce, but that she refused, saying, he claims, that "it would be all right with her." Thereupon he determined to go ahead with his plans.

First Voyage Was Stormy.

Home life after Chapman's marriage to Miss Walker was a very stormy one, according to the statements of all parties concerned. Three months after the ceremony, Chapman was found in the Walker home, where he and his bride had been staying. A few weeks later saw him in the role of a dutiful husband. But the boy was playing about the house while his mother was preparing lunch. The last time Mrs. Bowen saw her son alive was about 11:30 o'clock. The child seemed to be enjoying himself playing with his toys and the mother did not pay it much attention until luncheon was ready. Then Mrs. Bowen's sister was called to look for the little boy. She was unable to find him around the house, and at once thinking of the fish ponds, the apprehensive woman rushed to the pool just south of the house, where she discovered the body of the boy lying in the water. His little fists doubled up tightly in agony.

The woman's terrified screams at the sight of the dead infant attracted Mr. Bowen, who was working near by, and he rushed to the scene. The father took the body out of the water and a physician was hastily sent for. But the doctor's services were unavailing, as life had been extinct some time when the body was taken out of the water.

The mother is prostrate because the little fellow wandered from her sight and was drowned. The pool in which the infant met his death is but two feet and a half in depth, the shallow water being necessary to the proper raising of fish.

"JIM" WARDNER, FAMOUS PROSPECTOR, SUPPOSED TO BE DEAD, TURNS UP ALIVE

Some time ago it was reported in Salt Lake and throughout the west that "Jim" Wardner, famous old-time prospector, was dead as the result of drinking water from a spring in Washington that was heavily charged with cyanide of potassium. But he is not dead, for Horace Wardner told him to write Shaughnessy in Montreal. The agent did not seem inclined to grant the favor and said that Jim Wardner was there and had said he would walk to Montreal if the pass he could give him was sent. The agent was asked for instructions. In response, Shaughnessy wrote a message which should have read, "Don't. Let Wardner walk." But when the message reached the agent it read, "Don't let Wardner walk." Two days later Wardner called upon Shaughnessy at Montreal and thanked him for the pass.

Harry, the 15 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowen, was drowned yesterday morning in one of the pools of his father's fish hatcheries opposite Calder's park. The body was found lying face downward in thirty inches of water by a block of the Walker home. The first wife also represented that she had relatives and friends. But she maintains that she had no knowledge of the fact that Chapman was married to a woman who was living with him. She claims that she was a victim of a divorce, but that she refused, saying, he claims, that "it would be all right with her." Thereupon he determined to go ahead with his plans.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SANTA FE

Harriman Interests Were Not Represented.

OLD DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED

REPORT OF PRESIDENT RIPLEY SUBMITTED.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 27.—The report that a combination of Harriman and Rockefeller interests had secured control of the Santa Fe system was effectively disposed of at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the system held at noon today. There was no representative of the Harriman interests present, and a big majority of the stockholders voted for the re-election of the directors whose terms expired this year. The meeting did not last more than fifteen minutes, although the polls were kept open until 1 o'clock, to comply with the law regulating annual meetings of corporations.

Directors Re-elected.

The meeting was as devoid of exciting features as a camp meeting without an exhorter. The four directors whose terms are: Edward J. Borwick, New York; Andrew C. Jones, Wichita, Kan.; R. Somers Hays, New York; and E. D. Kenna, Chicago. The directors of the Santa Fe Railway company, the sale of the California Southern Railway company, and the Santa Fe Eastern Railway company, the directors also approved the purchase of the Cane Belt Railroad company.

Ripley's Report.

The annual report of J. P. Ripley, president of the company, for the fiscal year, revealed the fact that the revenue of the company for the year was materially increased by a substantial increase in the citrus fruit crop of California, by a small increase in the cotton movement from Texas and the Indian Territory, and by large increases in the movement of general merchandise and lumber. There was a loss in revenue from coal and coke tonnage. The coal miners' strike in Colorado and New Mexico and the machinists' strike over the entire system is reviewed. The report says that the miners' strike cost the Santa Fe in loss of tonnage and enhanced cost of fuel not less than $1,500,000. In conclusion, Mr. Ripley says that the large increase in earnings reflects the rapid growth of the territory served by the Santa Fe lines in population and wealth. Attention is called to the fact that this growth is likely to continue.
